

Openings: Studies in Book Art

Call for Peer Reviewers

The College Book Art Association (CBAA) welcomes applications to be a peer reviewer for its new academic journal, Openings: Studies in Book Art. The journal will maintain a database with the names and expertise of reviewers who will then be matched to articles as needed. Of special interest are reviewers from a wide range of fields that intersect with the study of book art: art history, graphic design, printmaking, digital media, poetry, literature, theater, library science, and other textual and/or visual disciplines. <http://journals.sfu.ca/cbaa/index.php/jcbaa>

The journal follows a double-blind review process so author and reviewer remain anonymous to each other. Peer reviewers are asked to evaluate the article and make publishing recommendations that will go to the editorial board for final decision. Peer reviewers will be contacted as needed (depending on submissions) and can decline particular assignments if their schedule would prevent timely completion of a review.

If you are interested in being considered for addition to this peer reviewer database, submit a short (1-2 paragraph) statement describing your qualifications and area(s) of expertise along with a CV to Elisabeth Long at journal@collegebookart.org

The editorial board will make decisions about peer reviewers based on their qualifications and their areas of expertise and will notify applicants when they are added to the database.

About Openings: Studies in Book Art

Openings is a peer-reviewed journal that publishes critical, historical, and theoretical articles, reviews, and interviews about book art and its pedagogy. Contributions from diverse perspectives are welcome as are interdisciplinary and international explorations of the relationship of book art to the broader art world and to related fields such as poetry, graphic design, printmaking, digital media, and other textual and/or visual disciplines.

The journal will be produced online but will also be available in print via a print-on-demand service. Please read the About section of the journal's web site for more information about the journal's scope and submission guidelines.

<http://journals.sfu.ca/cbaa/index.php/jcbaa/about>

About the College Book Art Association

The College Book Art Association supports and promotes academic book art education by fostering the development of its practice, teaching, scholarship and criticism. Membership in CBAA includes a subscription to Openings: Studies in Book Art. <http://www.collegebookart.org/>