March

Visit - Irish Parliamentary Bindings

Saturday, March 16, 10:00 am

Club of Odd Volumes – Host Sam Ellenport

77 Mount Vernon Street, Boston, MA 02108

Fellow member Sam Ellenport will be our host as we are invited to view some of the most spectacular bindings ever created. Member and collector Philip Maddock has been intrigued by the creation and, ultimately, the destruction of the original Irish Parliamentary Bindings; he will speak about the replicas, which have been created with bookbinder Trevor Lloyd and toolmaker Stewart Field. On display with these bindings are others from the 18th century, as well as many of the tools used for decoration.

April

Free Lecture - Hanji Unfurled: A journey into Korean Papermaking

Thursday, April 4, 6:00-8:00pm

North Bennet Street School

Aimee Lee, a Korean-American artist and Fulbright scholar, shares her search to learn more about traditional papermaking and its related crafts.
